NAVAL TREATY BEING DRAFTED

Incorporating Results Of Washington Conference—Limits Capital Ships And Size Of Auxiliaries—Submarine Status Not Yet Arrived At.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 31.—The drafting experts of the five big naval powers started work today on the construction of a treaty which will incorporate the decisions of the Washington conference and define the limits of the world's greatest navies for the next ten years.

Actual completion of the document must await the gathering up of several loose ends of the naval agreement but in its main essentials, the agreement already is perfected and ready to put on paper. The one outstanding feature yet to be determined is the question of whether submarines are to be "outlawed," as demanded by the British and American governments. Japan, France and Italy have not agreed to this far-reaching provision, and the matter is now under consideration in Paris, Tokyo and Rome.

Other details yet to be adjusted will present little difficulty it is expected, and the prospects today were that two more weeks will see the treaty completed and signed.

The treaty will be signed when the following points are settled:

1. The United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy each retain 350,000 tons of capital ships, Japan 300,000 tons and France and Italy each 175,000 tons with no vessel armed with guns greater than 16 inches.

2. In auxiliary ships such as cruisers, torpedo boats, etc., the powers are free to build as many as their resources can stand, but none are to be greater than 10,000 tons in size, nor mounting guns of greater calibre than 8 inches.

3. In airplane carriers, the United States and Great Britain each are to have five, Japan three and France and Italy two each with none greater than 27,000 tons in size nor mounting guns of greater calibre than 8 inches.

4. A 10-year naval holiday is to be observed solely in the matter of capital ships with a provision laid down as to methods of replacement, etc.

The minor details of the agreement, some of which are already agreed upon and some of which remain to be determined, include the methods to be followed in scrapping the thousands of tons of existing tonnage, whether the treaty powers are to construct capital ships for non-treaty powers, the establishment of a world standard for measuring tonnage, etc.

No session of the naval committee was held today, as there was little to be dealt with in advance of a decision on the outlawing of the submarine, as proposed by Elihu Root.

MARTIN TO LEAD DEMS. IN COUNCIL

The Democratic members of the common council whose members take office at midnight held a caucus Friday night and decided on Alderman William B. Martin of the Twelfth Ward as floor leader and Alderman Peter A. Kullman as alternate leader in event of absence of Alderman Martin.

The common council makes no appointments. Committee assignments are made by the president of the council, who will be, Alderman-at-large Rudolph C. Dittus, subject to confirmation by the council.

The new council will be composed of nine Democrats and four Republicans. It is the announced intention of the Democratic members to work in harmony with the new administration and to practice economy in city affairs, but not at the sacrifice of efficiency or progress, and they will use every effort to maintain the high prestige which Kingston has achieved among all the cities not only of the state of New York but of the United States. They expressed desire to make possible a bigger, better and even more attractive city.

Our Growing Population.
Dr. W. E. Little is receiving congratulations over the arrival of a ten pound grandson, his namesake, William Edward Eustace, born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Canfield, at their home on St. James street. Mother and child are doing nicely under the care of Drs. O'Meara and Larkin with Miss Clara Lennox, nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Albert Nichols of East Chester street are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son Harold Ward Nichols.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Richter of No. 33 Greenhill avenue, are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son Donald Oscar.

Any More T. B. Contributions?
That is in connection with the Christmas Seal Sale? Mrs. Rice, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, feels sure that there may have been some people overlooked or not secured, because of absence from home when first called upon, who would like to contribute to the Christmas Seal fund for this year, and who will yet be willing to make some contribution thereto. If there are any such persons willing to help make this year's fund as generous as possible, they are asked to communicate with Mrs. Rice, telephone 1725-3.

NON-RESIDENT TUITION UPHOLD

Will Remain at $90 For Those Attending High School—Board Not Swayed By Out of Town Delegation—Mayor's Portrait Accepted.

At the regular meeting of the board of education held Friday evening at the high school, the question of tuition for pupils attending the local high school from the country districts came up for discussion. Eleven trustees, parents and District Superintendents John L. Gillette and Emily S. Burnett, of the first and second supervisory districts, appeared before the board and asked that the board explain how it had arrived at the charge of $90 tuition for out of town pupils attending the high school and requested that the tuition be reduced.

The discussion lasted for about two hours and at the conclusion the members of the board decided to let the present charge stand. The present cost of instructing each pupil at the high school is $104, and from this certain reductions are made for non-resident students.

As was told at the time the board adopted the $90 tuition fee, the board of education is allowed by law to make a charge against a country district which sends pupils to the high school. It is the duty of a school district to designate a high school and provide funds for tuition of pupils attending from that district. In the event of the district failing to provide a high school he must pay the tuition of pupils attending the school district which has been designated by the board of education. As the district superintendent has failed to do so, bills for tuition were sent to the parents of pupils attending the local high school. It was the amount of these bills that was disputed.

John U. Gillette of Port Ewen asked the members of the board to explain why the country districts were called upon to assist in paying the $11,000 interest on bonds and $35,000 salaries for teachers in the high school when, according to his way of figuring about $15,000 was received from the state toward teacher's salaries. He asked the board to explain why this amount should not be deducted from the cost and contended that when the reduction was made the cost would be about $72 instead of $90. An itemized statement of the cost of maintaining the high school had been sent out by the board of education which was intended to show how the board had arrived at the $90 cost.

Miss Emily S. Burnett also asked why the board charged for interest on bonds and stated that she did not think the board should make a charge for tuition this year as the pupils had been coming to Kingston high school for years and no tuition had been asked other than that paid by the state. Now after a part of the school term had expired and after the pupils had entered presumably under the same rules, bills had been sent out. She further stated that the cost of out of town pupils did not make much additional cost to the city as they would have to maintain practically the same thing if there were no out of town pupils. If an addition to the building had been made to accommodate the out of town pupils then interest on that investment should be charged against the non-resident pupils.

The board's reply to this was that the cost would not be as great if there were no non-resident pupils and that on account of non-resident pupils the high school had become crowded and in order to make more room in the main building an addition had already been erected outside to take care of some of the work. About one-third of the pupils at the high school are non-resident pupils.

At Poughkeepsie the tuition for non-resident students is $100, and at Rhinebeck, where there are very few modern facilities such as at the Kingston High School, the tuition is $80.

Leslie Herring of Ulster Park also spoke and asked that a compromise be made for about $75 for the present year as the larger tuition charge would work a hardship upon many parents in the country.

John E. House of Saopus also spoke along the same line and added that in addition to the charge of tuition the people in the country had to pay a cost of from 2 to 3 times that of tuition for car fare and bus fare. He asked how many additional teachers were required to teach the out of town students.

President Flemming explained that to say how many more teachers were required was impossible; it could not be estimated. The pupils were part of the time in one room and part time in another and no one could estimate how much time each teacher gave to out of town students.

L. M. Hermance of Ulster Park also asked why the board charged for interest on bonds. Trustee Van Wageningen replied that the board of education was selling education, just the same as he was selling farm produce. In figuring farm produce cost he had to figure interest in investment, interest on mortgages on his farm if there were one, and cost of repairs to buildings, etc. This was charged against the purchaser of produce and that was what the board had to do in selling education.

After lengthy talks by several of the others present, including E. W. Hathaway of Port Ewen, the board decided to allow the present charge to stand, and the delegation retired.

The regular business of the board was then taken up. Payrolls for December were audited.

NEW HEALTH JOB COSTS NO MORE

$1,200 Saved Through Abolishment of Secretary's Post and $800 in Other Items, Says Mayor.

Kingston, N. Y., Dec. 30, 1921.

Editor Freeman:
I noted your article in reference to the creation of the position of inspector of foods by the board of health. While, perhaps, not very material, I desire to call attention to a little error which crept in the headline which stated that the board abolished a $800 job and substituted a $2,000 one.

This is not correct. The board abolished a $1,200 salary and substituted a $2,000 job. The difference is $800 not $1,400. Other items amounting to more than the $800 were eliminated or reduced. The salary of the secretary was $1,200 plus registrar's fees. The salary of the assistant secretary was $800. The assistant secretary was made secretary at the same salary of $800, plus fees. The office of assistant was abolished. The salary of $1,200 heretofore paid was thereby saved.

The salary of Dr. Clarke was made $2,000, which is very reasonable compared to salaries paid by other cities and also considering his education and experience in meat, milk and food inspection and sanitary and public health work. These changes do not justify the proposition of "abolishment of jobs and the saving of the people's money." In comparing a rigid inspection. This saving will accrue mainly to the poorer classes. It will mean much more from the standpoint of public health.

Where there is no meat inspection in one city with inspection carried on in surrounding cities, when an unwholesome meat will, for a certainty, find its way into the first named city. This is detrimental to the meat dealers who will not accept it or sell it, as well as to the general health of the community.

Our sanitary inspector, William H. Stork, has worked earnestly and conscientiously and has produced splendid results. Health work has developed to such a pace that it is impossible for him or any other person to do all that should be done to protect and preserve the sanitary conditions of the people. I do not boast of any little thing I may have done as Mayor, but I am truly proud in an impersonal way of the accomplishments of the Board of Health, its work is the most important of any City Board. With the additional inspector, the amount appropriated for the board is less than two per cent of the entire city budget. There were 100 less deaths in our city in 1919 than 1918. Our 1920 record was still better than 1919. We have not a complete record as to 1921, but I am certain it will compare with the two previous years.

A hundred lives saved in the city each year, mostly infants and children, is worth while. The moral, mental and economic condition of a city depends to a great extent upon the health of the community. No one can judge or criticize the action of the board justly, fairly or intelligently, who is not acquainted with its work and functions, and who is not personally versed in its activities.

Our first duty to the people is to preserve their health so far as it can be reasonably done in a public and unimpaired manner. There is no way it can be accomplished to a greater degree than the assurance of wholesome milk and meat and food generally. This the people of Kingston will have in the future at a very little additional expense, which will be repaid many times over as unwholesome food is worthless. Disproportion of the means to give the people effective health service is a compliment to the board. I regret it, however, at this particular time. One great man said that it was the great fault of the many to condemn what they did not understand.

Respectfully,

PALMER CANFIELD,
President, Board of Health.

More About the Forsyth Pond.

The Freeman has been asked to correct an erroneous impression that a previous article about the pond on the Forsyth property may have conveyed. If the children going to coast down the Forsyth hill will stop at the foot of the hill and absolutely keep away from the pond all will be well, as the hill of itself is quite safe. The important thing is that the youngsters must absolutely keep away from the pond and its vanishing bottom.

Two Train Riders.

West Shore Detective William Tierney, who was recently appointed, made his first arrests Friday afternoon when he picked up James Coleman, 23 years, and George Williams, 22 years both negroes, on a charge of train riding. The pair will be given a chance to explain later to Judge Schirick.

Boyle Selling Cars.

John J. Boyle has joined the sales force of The Van Motor Co., Inc. Following a long period of service with the board of water supply police, where he became a sergeant, Mr. Boyle went into the automobile business and has followed that branch of work for the past six years.

Property Conveyances Filed.

There were 241 deeds and conveyances of property filed for record in the Ulster county clerk's office during December up to and including December 30, against 287 in December, 1920. Mortgages filed for record in December were 226 against 227 in December, 1920.

HOLIDAY GIFTS TO CITY HOSPITAL

Friends of the Kingston City Hospital were observant of the holiday season, so that the patients and nurses of that institution were well remembered during the past month. The following gifts were received:

Fruit and cream, Victor Livingston and Mrs. Viola Bishop.
Gauge cotton, Miss Costello.
Saugerties Red Cross.
Magazines, Mrs. Edward Cokerdall.
Magazines and ice cream, The Misses Bonstedt.

Scrap book, Miss Belle Costello.
Money for Christmas, Mrs. Alexander Shufeldt, Mrs. H. S. Ensign, Mrs. J. E. Loughran, Miss Mary H. Schaeffer, Miss Martha Shute, Mrs. Charles Tappan.
Christmas trees, Tesoro Brothers.
Books and games, Mrs. David Burgevin.

4 pounds of chocolates, Miss Anna Bonstedt.

10 quarts of ice cream, C. V. A. Becker.

Holly and wreaths, Mrs. William Simmons.

Christmas greens, Mrs. John D. Schumacher.

Box of chocolates, Mrs. Drink.

Christmas dinner favors for the nurses table, Mrs. Chandler.

Large basket of poinsettias and Christmas greens, Burgevin Sons.

CORNWALL 5 SWAMPS LOCALS

Friday evening the Cornwall High School basketball team jumped rough shod over the local high school team by a 50-19 score. While this score seems one-sided it is really no disparagement to the locals, for the Cornwall players are the "champs" of Orange county and have their entire last year's team in uniform this season.

Rowland, Dressel and Berger did the scoring roles for the high school, with excellent guard and passwork mixed in. Bott, Anderson and MacFadden played fine guard position game for the varsity. Schmidt was substituted for Berger and his jumping against his adversary was remarkable. The score:

There is a needy family who require a bed mattress and any one having one to donate is asked to call the president of the Needlework Guild on the telephone. The call is $59-M.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

At Which Mayor Will Submit New Gas Rate Proposal—Public Invited to Attend Last Meeting of Year.

Mayor Canfield has called a special meeting of the common council to be held at the city hall at seven o'clock this evening, at which time he will submit a proposition for the settlement of the gas rate problem.

Recently the Public Service Commission approved a new schedule of rates submitted by the Kingston Gas & Electric Company which lumped the service charge but provided a substitute which made the gas rate practically the same as that which was fixed by the commission by its order of January of this year.

The public is invited to be present at tonight's meeting which will be the last meeting of the present council, whose terms expire at midnight.

JACOB RICE ON WATER BOARD

To Fill Late W. Roach's Term—No Appointments To Health or Charities Board Vacancies.

Mayor Canfield has filed the appointment of ex-Senator Jacob Rice as a member of the water board to fill out the unexpired term of William Roach, deceased. Senator Rice was a very close friend of Commissioner Roach and it is understood it was the wish of the latter that Mr. Rice succeed him. Mayor Canfield put a tribute to the splendid service of Mr. Roach as water commissioner and of his great interest in the development of the city made no appointment on the charter board in place of Peter Osterhout, resigned, or on the board of health in place of John E. Mahan, resigned.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Walter C. Hotelling, deputy inspector and revenue collector, who was recently appointed by Cyrus Hays, present collector, who succeeded Roscoe Irwin, died at his home in Albany Friday, aged 52 years.

Charles S. Garrison, widow of the late Cornelius Garrison, died at her home in Albany Friday, aged 82 years.

Ernest H. Hays, a former resident of Milford, died suddenly in Brooklyn Thursday morning while on his way to business. He leaves a wife and daughter. Mr. Hays was the only one left of the Hays family who were residents of Milford.

Margaret Malla, wife of George Glupps, died suddenly at her home in Roxbury, Mass. She is survived by her husband and two children, also her father and mother and four brothers. The funeral will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the home of her mother in Port Ewen and from the Church of the Presentation at 9:30 o'clock. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The funeral of Martin Hoffman was held from his home on St. Mary street this morning at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 at St. Peter's Church where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. J. P. Neumann. The services were largely attended by his many relatives and friends and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. The bearers were Frank Stenholm, Peter Brock, J. J. Peter Bruck, Sr., John Bruck and John Ahi, all members of the St. Peter's Sick and Aid Society. Father Ostermann accompanied the remains to St. Peter's Cemetery, where the committal service was held and the interment in the family plot.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Larkin, widow of the late Matthew Larkin, was held from the late residence this morning at 9:30 o'clock and at 10 o'clock from St. Mary's Church where a high Mass of requiem was celebrated for the repose of his soul by the Very Rev. John J. Hickey. The Rev. M. J. Larkin of New Rochelle was deacon and the Rev. Thomas T. Larkin of New York city sub-deacon. The bearers were Robert Dwyer, William Cashin, Thomas Murray, William Gaerty. During the Mass Mrs. Frances Connelly sang very prettily "Jesus, Jesus Come to Me." A large number of relatives and friends were present. Interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

One of the merriest of the Christmas parties was given at St. John's Parish House to the east of "A Bunch of Fun," the farce written and enacted by Ernest, (Isaac). The early part of the evening was devoted to a resume of the past year, appropriate stunts being put over for each month, the refreshments being appropriately served for November's stunt. It was a hilarious performance, well played up by the clever young people, who brought with them their own music, banjos, mandolins, guitars, etc. The latter part of the evening was devoted to dancing, and all were at the opinion that it was just a case of another "Bunch of Fun."

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.
A new camp of the Patriotic Order of America was organized and instituted on December 17, at Kerkhonson, N. Y., by Mrs. William Frier of Camp No. 30, this city, the charter having 30 names. Mrs. Frier is to be congratulated for her wonderful work also the degree team of Camp No. 20, for the beautiful floor work and fancy drills which were perfect in every way. National president, Mrs. Hattie Bruen, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and national secretary, Mrs. Minnetta Bowker of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., were present and took part in the ceremony of institution, which was most impressive. Also a large delegation from Camp No. 30, were present. After the business session was over delicious refreshments were served and all returned home in the early hours of the morning.

A Kingston Incorporation.

Albany, Dec. 31.—(Special)—W. E. Joyce Company, Inc., Kingston, has incorporated to act as architects, builders and contractors. The amount of capital stock is $30,000. Incorporators are W. E. Joyce, C. M. Lane, Michael Beharford, Kingston.

Annual Watch Service.

The annual watch meeting service will take place at the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church on the night at 9:30 o'clock. The Rev. Williams of Newburgh, officiating in absence of the Rev. E. O. Clark.

ODDS AND ENDS.

"The Reach of Dreams," with Edith Storey, headline all-star cast, in conjunction with a big holiday bill may be seen at the Orpheum Monday. The film is a 6 reel drama with the collision of a big whaling vessel and a luxurious yacht as one of the "shots."

SUPERVISORS ORGANIZE JAN. 5

The newly elected members of the board of supervisors of Ulster county for the years 1922-23 will meet at the supervisors' rooms, at the court house, in this city, pursuant to a call as the law directs, issued by Henry R. DeWitt, clerk of the board, which clerk has adjourned the board on Thursday, January 5, at 1 p. m., in regular session.

A chairman, clerk, county attorney and jail physician will be elected, and other business that may be of importance will be transacted. The political complexion of the incoming county legislature will be 22 Republicans and 11 Democrats. The Republican members will meet in caucus at 2 p. m. the same day.

Perhaps the most formal yet informal in the sense of sociability, social event of the holiday season was the Christmas week Assembly Dance held at St. Mary's Hall last evening. The dance was very largely attended, the guests including foreign, Kingstonians, out-of-town students, college boys and girls as well as Kingston society folk. The focus of the women were exceptionally elegant, the entire assembly enjoying a brilliant spectacle. Those who received the guests were Mrs. Frances J. Huganston, Mrs. Everett Fowler, Mrs. Harold King, Mrs. John D. Schumacher, Mr. George P. Chandler and Miss Helen Westbrook.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

PIGS' CHRISTMAS

"Grunt, grunt," said Porky Pig. "Grunt, grunt," said Sammy Sausage.

"Squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham. "Squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pink Pig. "Grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig's Mother.

"Squeal, squeal," said Pinky Pig. "Grunt, grunt," said Brother Bacon. "Gracious," said Master Pink Pig. "Haven't any of you anything to say for yourselves? You mustn't just grunt and squeal. You must grunt and squeal real words, real talk, real conversation."

"That is what we were doing," said Brother Bacon. "Squeal, squeal, that is what we were doing."

"Well," said Master Pink Pig, "you all seem to be making a lot of noise about nothing."

"That's where you are wrong," the other pigs said. "We are all practicing how we will wish the farmer a very merry Christmas. It is Christmas time and we are giving him our best wishes."

"Yes, yes, indeed. Every one wishes every one else a merry Christmas, or the compliments of the season, or season greetings, or a happy New Year or something of this sort at this season of the year."

"And so we are doing the same."

"We can't speak our wishes just as every one else can, but then that makes it all the better. We have our own interesting way of wishing the farmer a merry Christmas, and we hope you will wish him one too."

"We are going to get a good Christmas dinner, of course, and we look forward to it as we should, for we are good pigs, but even so, we must take the time on this happy Christmas day to wish the farmer a merry Christmas."

"We hope you'll do so too, Master Pink Pig."

"Why, of course, I will," said Master Pink Pig. "I'm sure that it had just escaped me for the time being—I mean the thought of its being Christmas Day had escaped me for the time being. I was thinking more of dinner than I was of Christmas."

"You Mustn't Just Grunt."

"Just," said Sammy Sausage, "Christmas dinner is a dinner in itself. It's a special dinner just as Christmas Day is a special day."

"Ah, here comes the farmer now, we must all wish him the Compliments of the Season, Merry Christmas, Season Greetings, Happy Christmas, Happy New Year, Prosperous New Year, Joyous New Year."

"For the first three of these wishes we must grunt over and over again."

"For the rest of these wishes we must squeal over and over again."

"And then in order to thank him for our Christmas dinner, for even pigs must thank at Christmas time, we will twist our little tails right happily and he will see our pleasure is real."

"Of course he can see that by the way we eat, but he will see it by our looks as well as our actions."

"The old saying is that actions speak louder than words, so of course we want to act out pleasure and eat as though we loved our dinner."

"And we'll do that. Pigs have always believed that actions did speak louder than words."

The farmer came along then with the Christmas dinner for the pigs and Grandfather Porky Pig, Miss Ham, Sammy Sausage, Brother Bacon, Master Pink Pig, Pinky Pig, Pinky Pig's mother, Mrs. Pink Pig, and the little pigs all said:

"Grunt, grunt, grunt, grunt, grunt, squeal, squeal, squeal," over and over again.

"I do believe my pigs are wishing me a Merry Christmas and other nice wishes," said the farmer. "Well, Merry Christmas, Pigs, and may you enjoy your Christmas dinner."

"We will, we will," said the Pigs. "Merry Christmas to you, Farmer, and many of them, and also we hope we may have many Christmas dinners, too! Grunt, grunt, grunt, squeal, squeal, squeal."

The Parson's Chance.

Rev. Mr. Goodie, off on a vacation fishing trip, was horrified to hear a youthful angler using words that had a very dark blue tinge. "My boy," he remonstrated, "don't you know that the fish will never bite if you swear like that?"

"I know I ain't very good at it," replied the youngster apologetically. "But I thought I could get some little ones on the few words I know. Here, you take my pole and see what you can do."—Legion Weekly.

Don't idly dream! 'There is no time for dreaming. No time to drowse and loiter on the way.

With opportunity each day is teeming. That all you design to waken, will not stay.

Be then alert, for all around you calling. Are voices, to press onward, heard by few.

Feed them, and venture, with no fear of failing—Don't idly dream, but do!

—George Burdette.

SOUPS AND OTHER DISHES

Soups may be either nutritive or stimulating. A nutritive soup like cream of potato is a meal in itself, while a bouillon is simply stimulating and attractive as to seasoning.

Beef Broth.—Cut two pounds of lean beef into small dice, break the bones and put them with the meat into a saucepan, cover with two quarts of water; when boiling add one carrot, one turnip, one onion, all diced, and one bunch of herbs. Simmer for three hours, add two tablespoonfuls of cooked rice and serve hot with croutons.

Nourishing Soup.—Take one cupful of lentils, one-half cupful of barley, one onion, two cloves, one grated carrot and two quarts of water. Wash the lentils and soak them over night in water to cover. In the morning put them with the barley, the onion stuck with the cloves and the grated carrot, into a saucepan; simmer for two hours, add salt and pepper to taste. Thirty minutes before serving remove the onion and add two cupfuls of milk and four tablespoonfuls of butter.

Corn Chowder.—Cut one-fourth of a pound of salt pork into small dice and cook in a sauce pan until brown, then add two chopped onions, cook until slightly colored, add two cupfuls of diced potatoes which have been par-boiled for five minutes, one can of corn and four cupfuls of water or stock; cook thirty minutes. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, stir in one tablespoonful of flour and when well blended add two and one-half cupfuls of milk; cook five minutes, add the corn mixture, salt and pepper to taste and three tablespoonfuls of rolled cracker crumbs. Serve hot.

Meat Pie.—Take one cupful of mince, one-half cupful of barley, one onion, two cloves, one grated carrot and two quarts of water. Wash the mince and soak them over night in water to cover. In the morning put them with the barley, the onion stuck with the cloves and the grated carrot, into a saucepan; simmer for two hours, add salt and pepper to taste. Thirty minutes before serving remove the onion and add two cupfuls of milk and four tablespoonfuls of butter.

A New Will For a New Year

THAT you "made your will" some time ago should not deter you from bringing it up-to-date. Time alters every man's plans and obligations.

Perhaps your will now reads that your family shall receive outright the money and property you will leave. This was a very common provision only a few years ago.

But in the light of present-day conditions you, like other prudent men, may wish to safeguard your wife and children against financial hazards by re-writing your will, and naming this Company as your trustee.

Your new will can provide that the property be held in trust by this Company during the lifetime of your wife, to go to other beneficiaries thereafter.

It can set apart funds to insure your children's support and education, or to insure that your daughter will always have independent means.

It can provide that your son's portion of the estate be managed for him until he reaches years of business discretion.

These are a few of the possibilities. We shall be pleased to send you a booklet of interesting information about wills and trusts entitled "Safeguarding Your Family's Future," and to discuss with you the business aspects of protecting your family's future.

LAST "PERSONAL" EDITOR.

Henry Watterson was the last of America's great "personal" editors whose widely known names represented both the newspapers they edited and the policies they forwarded. These journalistic names of national renown included those of Horace Greeley, Samuel Bowles, James Gordon Bennett, George D. Prentice and Charles A. Dana, and of them all Watterson was the most picturesque personality, which perhaps largely accounts for the fact that in so small a city as Louisville, Ky., for many years was published one of the country's front-rank newspapers. There were other editors of the personally known type who figured in a less extensive field, of wide and powerful influence in their own and adjoining states, but these also have practically disappeared. How many people now know the names of the chief editors of the eight or ten most prominent American newspapers, or even the editors of twice that number of leading dailies that are widely influential in their own and adjoining states? What is known as "personal journalism" has passed.

Though of the seceding Southern States by birth and conviction, Col. Watterson was one of the warmest admirers of Abraham Lincoln. In later times he was against both prohibition and woman suffrage. But at no time was he a "bitter-ender." In every case he accepted the situation philosophically after he had said his say with a power and picturesqueness of expression rarely equaled. "Marse Henry" will be long remembered for his nearly sixty years of journalistic battle, bravely and always fairly fought.

It may surprise some people to know that $100,000 of money derived from Liberty Loans was turned over to the Russian Government to permit its representative to attend the peace conference at Paris. This after Russia was already indebted to the United States to the extent of about $100,000,000, for which there was very little chance of repayment. That is but one illustration of the prodigal manner in which the former administration dispensed the dollars collected from the Liberty bond buyers of this country. Only half of the total receipts went to pay our own expenses in the war. It is to get back the other half that the foreign debt refunding commission will bend its energies.

The Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts, head of an organization called the International Reform Bureau, urges congress to make a law prohibiting marriage for 30 days after the announcement of the engagement so that, as he is quoted, "it will be impossible for an untried to get the son of a rich man drunk and marry him before he gets sober." In other words, limit the freedom of millions in order to hold in check or punish a dozen. This silly proposition would be greeted only with merriment but for the fact that other reforms based on the same principle have already been carried into the statute books.

Foreign visitors used to complain of a lack of world-news in our papers, but a New York daily now boasts that in a single day it offered its readers "news of what is going on in Ireland, England, France, Portugal, Germany, Russia, the Balkan States, Turkey and Asia Minor. Egypt and remotest regions of Africa, and then came the turn of the Far East, with careful attention paid to China and Japan, to Siberia and Mongolia, to Australia and New Zealand." The change is due to the fact that our old-time "isolation" is gone and our government is up to its neck in foreign affairs.

Said President Harding, "Just as it is not desirable that a corporation shall be allowed to impose undue exactions upon the public, so it is not desirable that a labor organization shall be permitted to exact unfair terms of employment or subject the public to actual distresses in order to enforce its terms." Therein lies the essence of all labor troubles. No minority of citizens should be permitted to force the public to acceptance of its terms, whether that minority is composed of capitalists or wage earners.

One of the reasons why interest is not being paid on the foreign debts to the United States is that the present administration has discontinued the practice of lending more money to the debtor nations for interest payment purposes. Official treasury correspondence in the spring of 1919 shows that money was turned over to certain foreign governments for the specific purpose of providing them with funds from which to make interest payments on money previously borrowed.

Michael Collins, the Irish leader, has his share of the Irish sense of humor. When recently he received a cable from this country saying, "Stand fast, we will send you a million dollars a month," he replied that he would prefer a half million dollars and a thousand men well equipped. As he expected, the thousand armed fire-eaters failed to buy tickets to Queenstown, preferring to fight at the safe distance of 3,000 miles.

The communists of Russia have sent a lot of money to the United States for bolshevistic propaganda purposes, but the effect of it is more than counterbalanced by the results of communism in Russia. The example speaks louder than the words. Even Emma Goldman can not stand the practical consequences of her own teachings.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Dept. of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do slate colored juncos have a juvenile plumage, and if so, what is it like?
2. How are salmon kippered?
3. Can you identify a caterpillar one inch long, with a green band about the body, with brown spots, circled with white; three white spots on head, two hairy uprights on head and tall, six hairy brushes on sides; seems to cling to leaf with yellow sucking foot-pads.

Answers in Monday's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Does the alligator use a nest? Yes, the female selects a sunny spot near the "hole" where she lives, generally. If she lives in a very wet swamp, she may have to travel a little to find a good place for the nest. The latter is a mass, sometimes rounded and sometimes conical, of grass and rank vegetation of the locality. It is gathered rather slowly, and by the time the eggs are laid, is settled together in a damp, decaying mass. The eggs are buried within the mound.

2. Is there any way to exterminate club from a river without destroying the fishes? Getting rid of any one species where several live, is almost impossible, as poison bait that would kill one, would probably kill any that nibbled. We have heard of trapping, using traps that would admit only fish of the size intended to kill, but do not know that this is practicable. Possibly extensive use of a weir or net, from which intended victims were taken, and other sorts allowed to escape, might reduce the objectionable fishes.

3. To whom can I appeal for protection of doves? Aren't they absolutely harmless?

This comes from Mississippi. Farmers' Bulletin 1123, with game laws for 1920, gives doves as protected by law except for an open season between October 16 and January 31. If the wild bird is meant, unlawful killing to the game warden. If domestic, that is a personal matter to be arranged with neighbors as circumstances allow. Wild doves are valuable as weed seed eaters, and take only a small percentage of cultivated grain.

LOCAL STEEPLEJACKS

Cliff and Kid Moore Repairing Cross on St. Mary's Church.

During the recent wind storm that unroofed several houses and tore the roof from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, the large cross on top of St. Mary's Church steeple was badly twisted.

The job of taking down the cross, repairing and regilding it is being done by Cliff and Kid Moore, the local steeplejacks, and their work is attracting considerable attention from those who pass the church.

Start of Smoking.
Smoking was practiced by the most primitive peoples. Tobacco, opium, and hemp were the most used. The invention of the pipe, while obscure as to time, comes from the frequent use of herbs burnt in containers as a sacrifice or for healing purposes. The person to be cured inhaled the smoke. A portable container with a tube for the smoke was a logical development of this practice.

BIG NEWBURGH DOCK EXTENSION

Former Governor Benjamin B. Odell as president of the Central Hudson Steamboat Company has purchased from the Erie Railroad Co. the entire section of water front at Newburgh extending from the present First street property of steamboat company to the dock, for a long time used by the transfer steamer William T. Hart. This gives the company a continuous frontage on the river of 750 feet, extending out to the channel.

There is a good dock already constructed on the lands heretofore owned by the Central Hudson Co. and President Odell said it was the intention of the new owners to continue the dockage the entire length of the property, and then, continuing, an "L" will extend out toward the channel parallel to and adjoining the Hart dock.

CIRCLE NO. 3 OF PONCKHOCKIE CHURCH CELEBRATES BIG YEAR

With Banquet Friday Evening in Church Parlor.

The ladies of Circle No. 3, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, chairman, of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church on Abrayn street, have just completed a most successful social and financial year, and this was properly celebrated Friday evening in the church parlors with the serving of a banquet. Plates were set for forty-six, and a most appetizing menu was served.

The banquet tables were artistically decorated by Miss Beulah Staples and Miss Winifred Sullivan, and an artistic name card had been placed at each plate. The favors were little red baskets filled with mints.

When the banquet was ready to be served Mrs. C. M. DuBois, organist of the church, played a stirring march and the banqueters marched around the long table seeking their name card and place.

The Rev. Mr. Moot, pastor of the church, was the guest of honor, and asked the blessing which was followed by the serving of the good things to eat that had been prepared. At the close of the banquet the evening was delightfully spent with games and a social time.

OF FRENCH ORIGIN

Unbuckled Galoshes Can Be Traced to Historic Incident.

Battle of Steinkirk, in 1692, Laid the Foundation for the Present Freshish Fashion.

How many of the young ladies who parade down Michigan boulevard with unbuckled galoshes clanking about their ankles know where and how the freshish fashion originated? asks a writer in the Chicago Journal.

In July, 1692, the French forces under Marshal Luxembourg were camped at Steinkirk, in what is now Belgium; while six miles away lay the allied troops under William III. of England. The two armies were too evenly balanced for either to attack unless it could secure some special advantage; and the French commander was kept informed of every allied move by a spy who was chief secretary to one of the German princes in the allied ranks. This man's treason was discovered, a pistol was put to his head, and he was compelled to write and forward a letter which was a trap. It told that the allies meant to send out a foraging party the next morning, and to guard this, would occupy the ground between the two armies with strong detachments of infantry.

With this letter preparing the way for a surprise, a general assault was planned, and came near being successful. The allied troops, a British brigade leading, almost reached the French lines before the trick was discovered. The French advance guard was smashed and routed. The Swiss mercenaries in the French service were beaten. But then the household troops of Louis XIV. entered the fray, led by young nobles and princes of the blood, and after a terrific struggle the English and their allies were driven back.

At that time, the French noble in military service was as much a dandy as a soldier. He wore lace collar and cuffs, as costly as his parents could afford, and arranged with the most foppish care. But with the English column smashing its way into camp, there was no time for such fine work; the heroic dandies charged with collars loose and cravats untied; and Paris seized on this disarray and made a fashion of it to commemorate the victory. The name of "Steinkirk" was given to adornments worn askew or left flapping.

At irregular intervals since then, the Steinkirk fashion comes back. Gloves, ties, blouses, all have been worn with elaborate carelessness which probably is meant to signify that the wearer has plenty more, and would not mind losing this one. But never, surely, did the fad take an uglier form than in its present aspect of unbuckled galoshes.

Shaking Them Up.

"Well, I golly, boys, there is more new window glass in Madison just now than ever before," said Major H. C. Winford, of that city, to a number of friends at the statehouse. "You see when the Madison battery with its complete equipment of large guns was getting ready to go to Indianapolis to participate in the Fourth celebration we decided to fire a 'sample salute' as some of the local citizens had asked to see just how the guns acted." When those big guns were loose, with the lightest charge possible, there was a rattling and crash of window glass in some of the nearby buildings. From that day to this claims have been pouring in for broken window glass, and just yesterday a woman a half-mile away from where the guns were fired sent in a claim for glass. All the old pillows and tufts of rags have disappeared from broken windows and the best old town along the Ohio river is looking very nifty now."—Indianapolis News.

A Quick Retort.

A certain city superintendent in the state of Indiana is not kindly disposed toward the manual training department of his school and it is his habit to relegate all the poor teachers to this department of "has-been" teachers, relates the Indianapolis News. The other day a young fellow who had lost his leg overseas and who had finished his college course after he came home, went to the superintendent for a job.

"Well," the superintendent tried to act as if he were conferring a favor. "I guess I might put you in the manual training department."

The young man had heard of the city's manual training department and he retorted with a bit of irony: "Yep, I guess there's where I belong—a peg-legged fellow in with the wooden heads."

Chinese Clock for Mexico City.

The Chinese colony in Mexico City has presented that municipality with a Chinese clock, which was officially accepted by President Obregon and a company of diplomats recently, and is now telling time in the Oriental way. The mayor wound the clock, and champagne was served. During the ceremony the Mexican hymn and the Chinese national anthem were played.

Hot Water at 20 Cents a Quart.

European hotels do not dispense hot water as freely as the American hotels. In some of them it is practically impossible to have a room with bath. In others it is possible to secure hot water only by feeding a gas hot machine with coins, while the gas heats the water. One traveler figures that it averages 20 cents worth of gas to heat each quart of water.

The End of Love.

She was beautiful to look at, but his love for her is gone. He gave her a careless up and down. She had galoshes on.

SHARKS TAKEN OFF NEW YORK

Their Capture Said to Have Been a Regular Thing Prior to and During Year 1815.

A shark nowadays even on the most exposed benches of New York and the metropolitan area is a rarity and a curiosity, but there was a time when these fish used to be caught off Catharine slip, says the New York Sun. This was about 1815, when the fishing smacks and fish cars used to unload and load off this wharf in the East river and the dead fish thrown out into the water used to attract the sharks.

An old man, Sam Wax, a porter in the old Catharine market, earned a reputation as a master shark catcher.

"Shark around the slip," was the cry that was raised when a shark was sighted off the pier and then Sam would drop his broom and put out his chain hook and soon would have the giant fish struggling on the dock. He is said to have hauled in as many as seven in one day, some of them fourteen feet long.

Devote, the historian, tells an incident which is passed on herewith without confirmation:

"One day Sam hooked a big one and he climbed into a skiff which lay tied to the end of the slip; the shark took to pulling and broke loose the skiff with Sam in, and away he went down the river at race-horse speed, nearly as far as Red Hook before he tired out, or Sam could hold him up. He, however, mastered him and brought him back, and Sam after that concluded not to be run away with again. So he stuck to the raft or dock when he fished for 'shark' thereafter."

Fire in Clothing.

Green Cloud Over Coral Island. It would be difficult for sailors to locate the low-lying coral islands, or atolls, of the Pacific but for the fact that over each of them there generally hangs a cloud of a characteristic green hue. After one of these green "atoll clouds" has been seen, the phenomenon is always easily recognized. The cloud is due to moisture evaporated from the warm water of the shallow lagoons. The smooth surface of the lagoon acts as a mirror and throws a greenish reflection on the cloud.

An Extraordinary Story. Two native girl students in an African mission school, awakened by the squawks of excited fowls, found a 15-foot python with its head in the hen-roost. They chopped him in two with an ax. Pajama-clad Methodist preachers arrived and investigated the snake's interior to find seven frying-size chickens, a setting hen, and her nine eggs. The eggs, unbroken, were put under another hen, who triumphantly hatched them. Rev. E. M. Richards tells the story, and refers to the bishop of Africa as a corroborating witness.

Taking the Rattle Out of Rattlesnake. In a combat between a diamond rattlesnake and a blue racer, the latter was victorious over his more virulent adversary. During the fight, reports a writer in Science, the racer was badly bitten by the rattler; whereupon the former worked his way to a patch of weeds and bit into the weeds, extracting the juice, after which he returned to renew the fray. This peculiar performance was repeated in a short time, when the racer again returned and destroyed the rattlesnake. —Scientific American.

Only One Drawback. A woman writer declares that a good husband may love two women at the same time. We quite agree with her. By all the laws of the Medes and Persians it is not only possible, but altogether the thing to do in this day and age when, more than ever, variety has become the spice of life. We can even go a step further than the woman writer, and declare it not only possible to love two women, but a dozen at the same time. The only trouble experienced so far is that the wife will have none of this new doctrine. —Girl.

A Defense Worth While Is the Defense of Accumulating Dollars in the Bank

It is, in fact, just the kind of a defense that every man, woman and child in Kingston should have.
Dollars in the Bank are a buffer against the misfortunes and the unforeseen crises of daily life.
The knowledge that they are there also increases your self respect—and gives you ambition to "do" more.
The Christmas Fund Now Forming at this Bank offers you the simplest, easiest and most satisfactory way of saving yet devised—the weekly deposit plan.
Come in and ask to have it explained—or ask most anyone. You can start saving by depositing as little as 50 cents weekly.
—and just remember that 50 cents weekly saved for fifty weeks amounts to $25.00.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story
Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

An electric washing machine was Jim's next selling feature, and he picked out homes in a better section of the city, to demonstrate the efficiency of the outfit.

"No more of the drudgery of scrubbing! Place your soiled clothes in the tank, turn a switch, and let the machine do the scrubbing for you. All done by a fairy called electricity."

"Very nice indeed," piped the woman who had been listening with tightly drawn lips, "but what good would it do me, with no electricity in the house?"

"I beg pardon!" Jim exclaimed. "How about your next door neighbor?"

"She's got electricity all right, but if you could make her pay $140 for any washing machine you'd be beating every one else in town. She wouldn't open up her pocketbook to a king."

"Never say die," grinned Jim. "I'll call in to see her anyway."

Jim stepped into the vestibule next door. The neighbor Mrs. Harris had been watching Jim. She met him with face set and determined. "You can't sell me anything that Mrs. Phillips buys," she began raspingly.

"But Mrs. Phillips cannot buy the article I have for sale. She would like to, but having no electricity in the house, she cannot use it. You are more fortunately situated."

"What is it?"

"An electric washing machine. I have a book here telling all about it. If you are interested, I will bring one out here tomorrow to demonstrate."

"Go on. Tell me more about it." Jim talked, explained, elucidated for over an hour. Then, feeling that he had used diplomacy in mentioning Mrs. Phillips' inability to use the machine, he paused for breath while the woman studied the illustrations. Satisfied at last that he had made a sale, he received her order to bring a machine to the house next morning for demonstration purposes.

"Remember," she called after him, as he walked blithely down the path. "I'm not promising to buy it."

"When you see it, you won't be able to resist."

Jim continued his route, making no further sales, but hoping for the best results the next morning. He took out the little truck on which had been placed a new washing machine, and soon reached the Harris' home. Thinking that the woman would prefer to have the machine in the kitchen, Jim walked around back, and pausing at the door to knock heard Mrs. Harris speaking within.

"Oh I don't intend to buy! Land no! Who'd pay that much money for a washing machine, but I saw a chance to get my week's washing done for nothing, so says I to him."

Jim didn't wait to hear more. He tiptoed to the door, and left a card on which he scribbled, "$2.00 deposit for all demonstrations." Then he knocked at the door and hastily returned to the machine.

READY FOR OPEN HOUSE AT "Y"

Final preparations are being made for open house at the Y. M. C. A. on January 2. The boys' division have arranged for an unique program in the auditorium beginning at 9:30 a. m. Joe Lorraine, the well known entertainer, will be present and render many interesting numbers. One of the most interesting moving pictures will be shown as well as the comedy. All boys over 10 years of age will be admitted free up to the seating capacity of the auditorium.

The social committee of the association in conjunction with the entertainment committee of the auxiliary have arranged an interesting program for both afternoon and evening. The orchestra from the First Presbyterian Church, under the leadership of Dr. Gillett, will furnish the music for the early afternoon. Miss Margaret Angle, of the St. James Church, will render a solo. Miss Merritt, of the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue, will do some reading.

Representatives from the other churches of the city will furnish part of the program for the balance of the afternoon. Through the courtesy of George Gildersleeve, use of the Auditorium is extended to the association for the latter part of the afternoon. After the entertainment presented by the various churches, a most interesting film entitled "The River's End," carrying out the story of James Oliver Curwood, will be shown on the screen.

The physical department program under the direction of Roy H. Begg, the physical director, will begin at 2:30 p. m. A swimming meet is scheduled which will include racing, diving and novelty events. At 3:30 p. m. the high school basketball team will play the high school alumni team. The business men's volleyball team will choose sides and play five games of fast ball, beginning at 4:30 p. m. This gives one a choice of program for either the 2 p. m. or 4:30 p. m. session, or the auditorium with its moving pictures and entertainment.

The Sauter-Haven Concert Company, which are so well known, will conduct the whole evening's program. These young ladies are entertainers of the highest quality. Miss Cora Sauter has made several successful tours of this country and Canada with her cello. Miss Clara Haven, the trumpet and reader, is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music. Already there is an indication of the popularity of the program, as the public it will be necessary to telephone or reserve seats by writing the Social Committee, Y. M. C. A. The program will be as follows: beginning sharply at 8:00 p. m.

GLASCO.
Glasco, Dec. 31.—Christmas was celebrated quite impressively in St. Joseph's Church. A procession of 14 girls, dressed in white, and the pastor, carrying the image of the Infant, took place before the midnight Mass. The girls' choir, accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Kohler, organist, rendered the beautiful Convent Mass by C. Gounod, also singing Adeste Fideles at the offertory, and at the end of the Mass, "Angels We Have Heard." At 8 a. m. was children's Mass, and at 10 again a high Mass followed by benediction, at which a beautiful Salutaris and the Tantum Ergo by Luzzi were sung by the choir. The selections, "Heavenly Vision" and "Chorus of the Angels" were played by the organist. All three Masses were very well attended and a large collection was made.

Parson Heads Kiwanis.
The Poughkeepsie Kiwanis Club at its election has named the Rev. James J. Henry, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, as president.

In Appreciation.
We wish to thank all our friends for their sympathy and many kindnesses during our recent bereavement. Also to express our gratitude for the appreciation of the many beautiful floral offerings.

A WAY TO BUY RELIEF FOR RUSSIAN ADULTS

Remittances On Sale At Kingston Bank.

Food remittances to Russia, instituted by the American Relief Administration of which Herbert Hoover is chairman, to permit residents of the United States to send relief to designated friends and relatives in that famine-stricken country, may now be purchased at banks in this and other cities and towns of this state. Here they are on sale by the Ulster County National Bank on Wall street.

The remittances may be purchased in $10 units up to a maximum of $50 for delivery to specified individuals in Russia and up to $500 for delivery to recognized groups and institutions. For one $10 remittance the American Relief Administration delivers 49 pounds of white flour, 10 pounds of beans, 10 pounds of rice, 10 pounds of sugar, 10 pounds of cooking fats, three pounds of tea and 20 cans of condensed milk. The retail price of these foodstuffs in New York would be $9.60 and it would cost more than $20 for an individual to send them from there to Russia by parcel post. In addition, the American Relief Administration assumes all risk until the food is delivered to the recipient at its warehouse nearest his home.

The Food Remittance operation is entirely distinct from the free mass feeding of 1,200,000 Russian children which the Hoover organization has undertaken.

SUNDOWN.

Sundown, Dec. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. William Carille of Europe entertained a number of relatives on Christmas day at a Christmas dinner. The house was beautifully decorated with Christmas trimmings and evergreens. A Christmas tree was enjoyed by the kiddies as well as the older ones. Santa Claus and wife were there to help distribute the presents and candy. Miss Lula Carille entertained the guests by playing a number of selections on her new talking machine which her father presented as a Christmas present to her. A donkey party was also enjoyed by old and young. P. D. Moore of Unionville winning first prize and Mrs. Clark Ryan won the booby prize for pinning the tail the farthest away from the donkey. Mrs. Carille, who is a charming hostess, served the following menu: Roast chicken, oyster dressing, spare ribs, mashed potatoes, cream gravy, succotash, macaroni and cheese, Thousand Island pickles, cucumber pickles, stuffed olives, fruit salad, grape conserve, cranberries, mince pie, three kinds of cake, strawberry ice cream, candy, tea, coffee, lemonade. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Clark Ryan and little daughter, Madeline; Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Moore and little daughter, Harriet; Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Donivan; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ryan and sons, Kenneth and Sheldon; Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Moore and family; Frances Evelyn and Earl, besides the family, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Carille, Miss Lula and Beatrice, Gerard and William, Jr. A lovely time was enjoyed by all present.

FIGHTING N. Y. GARBAGE DUMP

River Shipping Claimed To Be In Danger of Grave Embarrassment by City's New Plan at 52nd Street Pier and For Reaching Questions Involved—Clearwater For State.

Questions of great and far-reaching consequence to all the interests engaged in transporting building material, grain, ice and copper ore on the Hudson river were presented to Judge Whittaker at the special term of the supreme court in New York on Wednesday by Judge Clearwater, special deputy attorney general of the state of New York, and John P. O'Brien, corporation counsel, and Assistant Corporation Counsel William P. Lyman, representing the city of New York.

The Greater New York charter provides that all that part of the water adjacent to the wharves of the city of New York, including the north side of pier foot of West 51st street, and the south side of the pier foot of West 54th street, North river, should be set apart, kept and reserved from the 30th day of March to the 31st day of December, in each year for the exclusive use and accommodation of canal boats and barges engaged in the business of transporting property on the Hudson river, and that the commissioner of docks of the city of New York and all officers who should be empowered by law to regulate or station ships and vessels in the harbor of New York, should prohibit and prevent all other boats, ships or vessels from entering any of those slips or approaching or lying at any of the wharves included in that space.

Last winter the harbor officials of the city applied to the legislature to rescind that provision of the charter.

The New York Trap Rock Company, the Tompkins Cove Stone Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Ice Service Corporation, Wright & Cobb Lighterage Company, Island Marine Corporation, Empire Brick and Supply Company, Washburn Brothers, and all the large Hudson river transportation interests, retained Judge Clearwater to appear before the legislature in opposition to the bill, which he did, and it was defeated.

Notwithstanding this defeat and the express provisions of the statute, Murray Hulbert, the present but retiring commissioner of docks of the city, within the last six weeks proceeded to build a garbage dump on the southerly half of the pier foot of West 52nd street, which covers the greater part of the southerly half of the pier, the upper part projecting far some distance over the water. The garbage dump went into operation last week, and the scows used in conveying the garbage to the low wharves fill the slips, block the river and prevent the canal boats and barges transporting freight from the Hudson from entering the slips or lying at the wharves, to discharge their cargoes.

Attorney General Newton requested Mr. Hulbert to abandon the construction of this dump. To this request no attention was paid.

The various shipping interests above referred to then requested the attorney general to appoint Judge Clearwater a special deputy attorney general to prosecute an action in the name of the state against the commissioner of docks, and to apply for an injunction restraining the maintenance and operation of the garbage dump. This the judge did, procuring from Judge Burr of New York an order returnable before Judge Whittaker on Wednesday, requiring the commissioner of docks to show cause why the garbage dump should not be abated, and the structure already erected removed. It was upon the return of this order that the argument was had in which the corporation counsel advanced the position:

1st. That the nearest other pier for a garbage dump was at the foot of West 47th street that this had been allowed to fall into disrepair to such an extent that it was unsafe to use it for that purpose.

2nd. That the city of New York is the owner in fee of the lands upon which the pier in North river at the foot of West 52nd street is constructed, and that the title to the lands under water at that point was vested in the city by its Colonial charters.

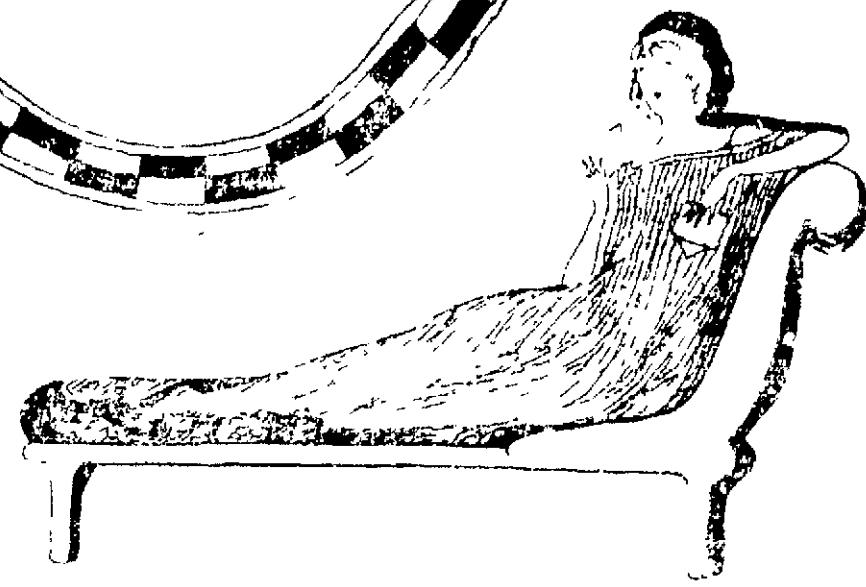

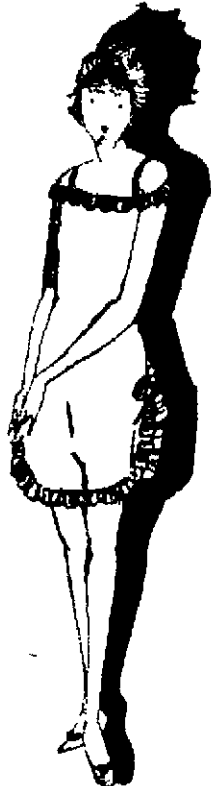

3rd. That the city being the owner in fee of the lands under water, had the right regardless of the provisions of the Greater New York charter, to place any structure it chose on the wharves erected over the lands under water belonging to it.

To this contention Judge Clearwater said the complete answer was that the city was negligent in permitting the pier at the foot of West 47th street to fall into disrepair, that it was its duty under the charter to keep that pier in repair, and to use it for a place for a garbage dump. That under the first and best constitution of New York, adopted at Kingston on the 30th day of July, 1777, the feudal tenure of lands under the Colonial charters was abolished, and the allodial system under which the state became the owner in fee of all lands under water, superseded the royal grants, therefore the state held title to the lands under water without a superior, the municipal occupancy was subject to the exercise of legislative control by the state, and that control had been exercised by the legislative enactment of the Greater New York charter.

Both Judge Clearwater and the corporation counsel agreed that the questions involved were of far-reaching consequence, involving many millions of dollars in that they affected the entire commerce conducted on the Hudson river, not only from river points, but from the far west.

The judge also stated that the use of the pier for a garbage dump would cripple the handling of the enormous traffic reaching New York by the Hudson, it greatly would increase the price of building material, brick, crushed stone, cement, lumber, ice reaching New York through the waters of the Hudson and would seriously embarrass and delay its delivery, that it would interfere with the settled policy of the state to create and develop ample terminal facilities for the barge canal and would enormously increase the charges for trucking and distributing the Hudson river tonnage to its destination in the city and adjacent territory. He said that Judge Whittaker might derive some conception of the importance of this traffic by the papers he submitted, which showed that, as to building material, brick, crushed stone, cement, bluestone, lumber and sand, in previous years the tonnage had exceeded 8,000,000 tons during the season of navigation, and that 18,000 canal boats and barges had been moored at the piers set apart for that purpose by the Greater New York charter. That barges and canal boats were landed at the piers in flocks of from twenty and thirty at a time; that the state and the nation were endeavoring to utilize water transportation to a far greater extent than heretofore for the reason that the water provided the cheapest possible transportation. That the city offered no other pier for this traffic and that the construction of a garbage dump in defiance of the legislative act, constituted a gross violation of the public rights. Judge Whittaker took the papers and reserved his decision.

announcing the January sale of Black and White

Opening Tuesday

FASHIONABLE Paris has so completely succumbed to the vogue of Black that a lingerie sale which did not include it would, indeed, be behind the times.

So in January, 1922, the perennial Sale of White gives way to a sale of Black and White which features:

Black, because it's fashionable
White, because it's dainty
And we have added pink, blue and lavender to suit a wide variety of tastes.

In these colors we display Lingerie, Blouses, Morning Dresses, Negligees and Corsets at Lowest-in-the-City Prices.

DELAWARE COUNTY ROADS.

Two Improvements Next Year—Superintendents Not Overpaid.

Delaware county has again adopted the plan which previously gave entire satisfaction in the division of the state automobile money among the towns. Fifty per cent of the money is divided among the towns on the basis of road mileage and fifty per cent on the basis of equalized valuation. This plan has prevented any charge of favoritism and each town knows it is getting the money to which it is entitled.

Alton L. Van Tassel, the present county superintendent of highways of Delaware county, has been re-appointed for a term of four years at a salary of $1,500 a year and $500 for expenses.

The Delaware county supervisors have been informed that construction work will be begun early in the season by the state highway department on the highway between Hobart and Bloomville, and on the Deposit-Rock Rift road. Both will be constructed with federal aid.

Woolworth's Biggest Year.

TIMBER PIRATES ACTIVE

Got Vast Quantities of Valuable Wood From Alien Land.

Timber pirates have stolen vast quantities of valuable wood from alien enemies' lands in northern Ontario held in trust by the Canadian government.

The timber thefts are still going on in the far reaches of the northern forests.

This is the announcement of Maj. T. J. Reiph, assistant deputy custodian of alien enemy lands for the Canadian government. The plunderers must have begun operations early in the World war to make away with such enormous quantities of timber, he says.

Federal action will be begun immediately against four men said to be implicated in the thefts.

Has Wife Arrested, Then Gets Lawyer. Frederick Licht of New York City caused his wife to be arrested on a bigamy charge and then offered a secure a lawyer to help her out of her difficulties. The woman admitted that she had married a man, but she said she did it to keep him from committing suicide. Licht's heart was softened at her story.

Miss Norberta M. Smith.

(By International News Service.)

Women play a prominent part in official life at the Capital these days, and every now and then some new comer is brought into the limelight.
Prominent among those who are being talked about is Miss Norberta McCorum Smith, the beautiful young artist who has been acquiring fame by her portraits of great men. Miss Smith, who started to paint when a mere child, ranks high as an artist of note. Her wonderful likeness of ex-President Wilson was selected to hang on the walls of the White House. She has also painted the features of President Harding, Josephus Daniels, the former secretary of the navy; Governor Cox, of Ohio, and the late Cardinal Gibbons.

Miss Smith resides with her mother on Massachusetts avenue, Washington, D. C.

Fine Buildings in Buenos Aires.
Although the Teatro Colon, Buenos Aires' opera house, is far famed as the largest in the world, the architectural jewel of the city is the magnificent Jockey club, on the Calle Florida, the fifth avenue of the southern metropolis. Its staircase is wide and pillared, of green marble. The furniture of one of the banqueting rooms was taken over in its entirety from an old French chateau. It has a great fencing hall.

Appreciation Helps All Around.
More and more people appreciate the value of the telephone—and frequently now they express their appreciation to the telephone employees and executives. And every such expression of appreciation brings the company, its employees and the public into closer relationship.—Telephone.

PUBLIC PARKING PLACE CLOSES

The public parking place on John street, near Crown, will be closed after tonight until next spring, and since its opening three years ago has filled a want that has been greatly appreciated by automobilists. The report of Joseph Schuler, the caretaker who has carefully looked after the cars of the people who have parked there, made to Mayor Canfield shows a total of 24,626 automobiles of various styles parked there during 1921. The public parking place was started in 1919 at the instance of Mayor Canfield and the merchants of the uptown section of the city. During that year about 8,000 cars were parked and during 1920 about 15,000, the number the past year being as above stated over 24,000 showing an average increase yearly of about 8,000 cars.

Folly to Depend on Others.

The independent chap is the fellow who tries to do things for himself. But Jones used to sit next to us at the "little old schoolhouse" on the hill. He never thought of doing the "same" himself. That was a matter of labor and labor was not a thing he would willingly do. So he had made it a habit of "peppin" and putting down things as he saw them. Many a time he did it to his embarrassment, but that did not matter. You see he had the habit and there wasn't anything else for him to do. He didn't learn the first steps and so had to depend on others the rest of his days. But he could not depend enough and what he was going to do to that teacher was enough to make your blood run cold. But he didn't do anything. Such fellows never do unless it's an accident. Then they are as surprised as anyone else that the thing happened. Exchange.

"With Milk and Honey."

There was once an ancient nation, well fed on bread and meat and gray, that left its fleshpots and steered northeast out of fat Egypt toward a hilly land "flowing with milk and honey." It did not seek a land of lions and bumblebees, but of honey bees and dairy cows. The honey maker of the Promised Land was a small, swift, industrious worker with an obsession of heaping up wealth for others to enjoy. The milk provider was a dairy cow that could raise her own calf and feed a baby into the bargain. The land that flows with milk and honey is the land of the overflowing spirit, of the brimming milk pan, the drip of honeycomb; the land of sweet surprises, the country whose workers do more than merely eat what they produce. Exchange.

Resolutions.

William Roach, who died on December 29, 1921, for sixteen years served on the directorate of this bank and during all that time, faithfully and unselfishly performed his duties, having for his sole guide the best interests of its patrons and stockholders.

His sound practical judgment on financial matters was heard with respect and eagerly sought by his associates.

Unobtrusive in demeanor, he never shirked any of his duties, but came forward manfully and met all his official and civic responsibilities.

We sincerely deplore his loss and in respect to his memory, be it RE-SOLVED:

That the foregoing memorandum be entered upon the minutes of this meeting do now adjourn.

That a copy hereof be sent to the family of the deceased and published in the daily papers of this city.

That we attend the funeral services of the deceased.

DAVID TERRY, President, Resident National Bank, Kingston.

Chicago Grain Market.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Chicago, Dec. 31.—Wheat closed 3 lower to 1 higher; corn 3/4 lower to 1/2 higher; oats, 3/4 to 1/2 higher.

Closing Prices. Wheat—December, 107 1/2; May, 115 1/2. Corn—December, 46 3/4; May, 53 1/2. Oats—December, 32 1/2; May, 38 1/2.

Effects of Civilization.

It is a mistake to assume that civilized man can perform and endure life in the uncivilized. Centuries of inbreeding and adaptation to environment have changed the human machine into a stronger mental and a less strong physical mechanism. In other words, the bodies of most men are better adapted to demands of a mental nature, such as quickness of decision, constructive planning, etc., rather than to tasks demanding mere brute strength. There are, of course, those among us who still possess the latter to a remarkable degree, but their number is probably diminishing. A little more insistence on this point by physical examiners and instructors might bring about much good to the youth of the land.

A Lamb Anecdote.

This anecdote is of a lady—a sort of social Mrs. Fry—who had been for some time lecturing Lamb on his irregularities. At last, she said: "But really, Mr. Lamb, I'm afraid all that I'm saying has very little effect on you. I'm afraid from your manner of attending to it, that it will not do you much good." "No, ma'am," said Lamb, "I don't think it will. But as all that you have been saying has gone in at this ear (the one next her) and out at the other, I dare say it will do this gentleman a great deal of good," turning to a stranger who stood on the other side of him.—R. H. Stoddard.

Face Reveals Character.

Cautious people have noses that lie flat to the face, and the nose terminates in a thin, pointed tip. A person with an ignoble character has a head which is prominent close behind the ear, a narrow forehead, and only a short space between the water corners of the eyes and the ears. A long nose, when accompanied by a pointed chin, is also an unfavorable indication. A prominent upper lip is a distinctive feature of a noble character. It is generally found in persons of superior merit. The three sections of the face—forehead, nose and chin—will be of equal length in such a face.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

But of Famous Englishmen.

The United Service club is one of London's famous clubs in "Tall Men" for officers of the two British services, the navy and the army. Buses of naval and military heroes adorn the hall. The duke of Wellington, with his stately and aristocratic look, gazes down on members as they pass through the main entrance. Honesty, pride and dignity are written there, says the Christian Science Monitor. But a head of Lord Nelson at the side is more interesting. Each side of the face is modeled differently, so that the impression of a man of the world is given as you look at the portrait from the left, and of a dreamer as you look at it from the right. In the one case the modeling is firm, in the other soft. Even the eyes, for both are shown, are different. The bust is a replica by the famous English artist, Flaxman, the original of which is in possession of the family.

Earth's Internal Temperature.

It used to be thought that the temperature increased at a fairly regular rate with descent into the crust of the earth, but it appears that recent measurements in deep mines and borings do not bear out the assumption. Some investigators are now disposed to think that, instead of regularly increasing, the temperature is not far from stationary below the surface. At 2,000 feet, is only one degree Fahrenheit for each 250 feet of descent. The bottom temperature is 102 1/2 degrees. Measurements in other places have given various results. In the Kargoorie mines, in Australia, practically no variation of temperature is shown between depths of 1,400 and 2,300 feet. The result of recent findings shows that there is no general law governing the increase of rock temperature with depth.—Washington Star.

Watching Her Ship Come In.

It makes a good deal of difference whether the house you live in on Brooklyn's street of romance is even numbered or odd numbered. If it's the latter, the chances are your dwelling is merely old and quaintly picturesque, but if it's even numbered your back windows look upon one of the great sea lanes of the world and you can watch the tramp steamers from the Caribbean, the freighters from the Argentine, Peru or maybe Africa, and the Pull River liners faring forth for Boston. Columbia Heights is Brooklyn's street of romance, says the New York Sun. Among the residents of its even-numbered houses are the wives of some of the nation's great men—and likely also a few of the nation's great women. ## TRIMMING PLAYS IMPORTANT PART Artistic Decorations on Clothes Give the Distinctive Touch That Appeals.

MANY CHANGES IN FASHIONS

New Ideas in the Construction of Apparel Do Not Lie in Outline of Garments But in Unusual Embellishments.

Wherever dress is discussed one hears the assertion, "There is nothing new." To the casual observer, observes a Paris fashion writer, there is little that is new. From a walk along a fashionable thoroughfare one gathers the impression that clothes are much the same as they were last year.

But the close observer, the one who really is interested in the fashions will see that there are changes—many of them—and that these changes are clever and subtle. They do not lie in the outline of the garments, but in unusual trimmings. It requires much less effort and ingenuity to bring out a silhouette that is attention attracting than to evolve a beautiful and original decoration.

Today the clever dressmaker buys only a small percentage of her trimmings ready made; she creates decorations suitable to the model she is designing, often using nothing but the material from which the dress is made.

This is an old idea. Our grandmothers depended largely upon ruffles, pleatings and flutings to enhance the beauty of their costumes, and it is from these old-time trimming ideas that the present day self-trimming, as it is called, emanates.

Trimming of Self Material.

There was nothing artistic about the evenly pleated or fluted ruffles. Every dressmaker used them and attached them to the dress with great exactness. Vastly different are the delicate hand-made trimmings of today, carefully tucked here and there.

Dressmakers now excel in intricate hand-made decorations, most of which consist of novel ways of working the materials composing the dress. A great deal of this sort of trimming is used, and it gives a look of elaboration to simple cut models. Sometimes it takes the form of upright folds seen in patterns to form panels on skirts and plastrons on bodices. Again it takes the form of geometrical pieces sewn to the dress in a distinct pattern. Another unusual form of trimming consists of narrow tabs embroidered in self-tone, and still another interesting effect is produced by small leaflike points and narrow strips cut from two layers of material pasted together. This makes it possible to use the raw edge.

These tabs and strips are matted to form a design. Sometimes the edges are finished with a line of water color paint, or again, there is a tiny metal ball, usually steel, sewn to the tip.

Colors Relieve Sombre-Hued Dresses.

The most lavish user of self-trimmings is Madame Renée, of Paris. She does marvelous things with materials working out intricate designs in silk, cloth and velvet.

An example of one of the simpler methods of trimming with strips of the material is in chemise frock. It is of maroon-colored crepe de chine adorned with interlacing strips of the silk.

A dress from Margaine Lacroix, with innumerable strips of the cloth form a ladder-like device. The trimming bands are made separately and then loosely sewn to the gown. The girdle also is constructed in this way. This frock is a confirmation of the tendency to relieve dark clothes with bright colors, the model being a black broadcloth, with the cascading silk panels and the sleeve tabs of Chinese green silk. A shade which is one of fashion's favorites just now. It is not only used extensively as a trimming, but takes a prominent place in foot-wear. Slippers of Chinese green broad-cloth are smart with either black or white evening gowns.

Metal Cloth Sparkling With Color. Jenny achieves the unusual through a scarf yoke and a girdle of silk flowers, both of the material which forms a straight line dress. The scarf yoke is a feature with Madame Jenny. She makes it do many new tricks, such as forming sleeves or a train. In this instance it makes a panel back.

Shawls, which still hold their place in the sun, frequently are called upon to do duty as trimming, and there is no doubt that they make one of the most graceful decorations.

Margaine Lacroix uses the shawl idea with excellent effect in a frock composed of silver cloth and taupe satin. The skirt, which is long and uneven at the bottom, is of the satin. This is attached to a straight bodice of silver cloth tinted with orange. These tinted metal cloths, which are new this season, are soft and supple. They also come in all the violet shades, as well as wonderful raspberry reds.

Here is Illustrated the White Broad-Cloth Suit Trimmed With Black.

Over the shoulders falls a scarf of the satin in shawl effect. This, as well as the skirt, is lined with orange colored silk, and one end of the shawl is fringed with orange. The bodice is embroidered with steel beads and silver threads. Slippers of orange and silver oracore are worn with this costume.

Brands Enlive Furs and Frocks.

Among the many details that go to make up the winter fashions are cut-out designs of cloth applied to frocks of sheer fabrics. Lavin applies roughhewn in interesting border designs to the sheer, flowing sleeves of many of her frocks. Usually she selects cloth a few shades lighter than the gown itself. This idea is not new, but, nevertheless, it is much in use.

There is a penchant for sparkling effects, in dress and, consequently, these cloth motifs often are covered with a cut-work of steel beads, or embroidered in glistening metallic threads.

Glittering trimmings are the brands that have the glistering with appearance of bright new silver. Even furs are enlivened by inserts of such brands. Perhaps it is the liking for glistering ornamentation that has brought materials shot with gold into so much prominence.

Foliage Trims Mid-Winter Dresses.

On black dresses star trimmings are made of glistening points of jet and simple black velvet corners have silver chains and panels lined with silver and brightly tinted metal cloths. Insertions of rhinestones also are used on black velvets. This combination is especially popular at the house of Worth. One of Worth's best models is of black velvet practically covered with an intricate pattern of rhinestones.

Leaves and flowers are very important trimmings, especially when used as circles. In many instances they are formed of cloth or silk. A wreath of realistic autumn leaves, made from waxy leaves of red and brown silk is extremely effective on a silk frock in a soft shade of green. Pinkish lavender chrysanthemums glint on an informal evening gown of mauve colored crepe. Very effective trimmings in the form of flowers or points are made of fine fignies.

Colors for the evening are brilliant. There is many a woman with a liking for bright colors who, while unwilling to make herself conspicuous by wearing them on the street, will be quick to take advantage of the prevailing craze for bright-hued clothes in the evening.

Particular emphasis is laid on the neck's color, these ranging from the deep blues and violets shades to those so light that they verge on pink.

Hand Tucks Made More Easily.

Most people who trim their clothes with hand run tucks find them difficult to keep straight. Yet as they make a pretty and inexpensive trimming for children's dresses especially they are apt to remain popular. One inventive woman has discovered that if she makes tucks on the machine, using the tucker, a coarse needle and no thread, she will have the needle marks to use as guides, the result being quick and even work at half the cost of time and patience required by the old method.

WHISTLE BROUGHT HIM FAME

Restaurant Cook, Harry Keynston Jones, Famous as Author of "Rose of No Man's Land."

From out the bustling kitchen of a popular summer resort restaurant near St. Paul, Minn., there issued during the vacation season a lilted songs and whistled ditties that sounded so strangely familiar that American Legion men of the World war decided to investigate. They found the musician to be one Harry Keynston Jones, a five-foot-tall Cockney, also the restaurant cook.

Jones began his musical career as chef of a Winnipeg grenadier regiment during the war. Later he tended the private skillet of Gen. Sir Julian Byng at Vimy Ridge, and more important than that, he wrote "Rose of No Man's Land," the war song that had a long run of popularity. A penny whistle which he bought and played for the prime purpose of amusing his kitchen police caused his rise to music fame, he declared.

In France he was transferred to the officers' mess. There Lieutenant Colonel McRae, who later wrote "In Flanders Fields," heard the penny whistle, and the two became friends. Some time afterward they together turned out the words and music of the No Man's Land song.

Jones, wounded at Cambrai, was invalided back to Canada. After his discharge from the hospital he began a sightseeing tour of the states, depending upon his cooking ability for ready employment. He now has a song with a New York publisher which he hopes to put forth soon.

HEADS WAR DISABLED SCHOOL

Dr. Arthur Davis Dean, Veteran of the World War and Educator of Wide Experience.

Dr. Arthur Davis Dean, recently chosen by the government as school superintendent of all American war disabled, is himself a veteran of the World war as well as an educator of wide experience and a specialist in vocational training.

During the war, Dr. Dean, a major in the sanitary corps, worked on the physical and mental rehabilitation of the sick and wounded as they were returned to the United States in almost all the large government hospitals of the country. With nine years' experience in vocational education work in New York state, he served as head of the division of vocational schools in the state department of education from 1908 to 1917, when he became professor of vocational education in Teachers' college, Columbia university.

He directed the New York state prison survey in 1919 and investigated the possibilities of industrial and agricultural education in Porto Rico for the insular government.

Dr. Dean was born Sept. 15, 1872, at Cambridge, Mass., and was educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a member of Columbia university post of the American Legion.

From the outset Friday evening's get-together social over-flowed with congeniality at the Y. M. C. A. The entertainment was provided for ex-"Y" members returned from college and high school seniors who are members of the association. Experiences depicting the humorous side of college life were told and the party moved vivaciously. The big hit came when Mr. Hall introduced Malcom Shackelford. Mr. Shackelford is a humorist, a bongo-picker of ability and a versatile monologist. Following Mr. Shackelford's entertainment refreshments were served and voting Mr. Hall a "real fellow" the boys went happily home.
